2006-07 REVIEW

Phil Martelli put one of his youngest squads in years on the floor in 2006-07 and although the team was inconsistent at times, it gave Hawk fans optimism for the coming years. SJU experienced a rollercoaster ride that included two four-game winning streaks and a late-season three-game losing streak to finish 18-14. Despite the 18 wins, the Hawks saw a streak of six consecutive postseason appearances come to an end.

Among the bright spots was the emergence of Ahmad Nivins and Pat Calathes, who were clearly two of the Atlantic 10's most improved players. Nivins had a breakout year, averaging 16.6 points and 7.6 rebounds and setting the school record for field goal percentage (.631) while earning A-10 All-Conference First Team honors. Calathes was second on the team with 13.9 points and 7.1 rebounds while getting a nod to the All-Conference Third Team.

With a freshman starting backcourt (Jawan Carter, Garrett Williamson), the Hawks opened with three straight wins, and won five of their first seven games. SJU had three games in three days at Louisville's NABC Classic, and despite opening with a win over Bellarmine as Nivins scored a career-high 28 points, SJU lost to the host Cardinals and then Ohio. SJU returned home to post a win over Saint Mary's before the holidays, despite playing without Nivins (sprained ankle).

A rematch with Hofstra (which defeated the Hawks in the 2006 NIT) took place in the Aeropostale Holiday Festival at one of SJU's favorite arenas, Madison Square Garden. The contest turned out to be a highly-competitive game for the early season, and Hofstra handed the Hawks more heartbreak at MSG, winning 65-63 on a shot with 2.2 seconds to play. SJU bounced back to defeat Boston University for the second time and started a four-game winning streak.

The Hawks opened conference play by routing Duquesne at Alumni Memorial Fieldhouse behind a career-high 22 points from Rob Ferguson and followed that with road wins at Charlotte and Temple. Nivins had 20 points versus Temple, as the Hawks defeated their city rival for the ninth time in 10 tries.

The streak came to an end with a rare home loss to Rhode Island, 86-81, despite personal best efforts from Nivins (28 pts-11 rebs) and Calathes (20 pts-11 rebs). Fordham would hand the Hawks a 56-55 loss in the only overtime contest of the season.

Pat Calathes was named to the Atlantic 10 All-Conference Team, averaging a career-best 13.9 points per game in 2006-07.

SJU bounced back with an exciting 82-74 win over defending A-10 champion Xavier, led by Carter's career-high 20 points. The Hawks seemed to carry that momentum into the first half at George Washington, outscoring GW 20-7 at the start. Despite leading most of the game, the Hawks went cold when it counted and saw GW rally for the 74-65 decision.

Calathes bettered his career-high with 23 points in the 84-74 win over Penn in the soldout Palestra. That was followed by another home loss to Saint Louis and then a win over Dayton, 71-65, on Super Bowl Sunday. The win was significant as it was Martelli's 235th, and moved him into second place on the Hawks' all-time victory list past legendary coach Jack Ramsay.

The Hawks suffered a huge letdown in the always-anticipated rivalry game with Villanova, scoring a season low in the 56-39 loss at The Pavilion. That low point seemed to serve as a catalyst for the Hawks to play their best basketball of the season, and go on to win four in a row. SJU routed La Salle, 72-50, and then defeated GW, 62-56, as Calathes set the school record for consecutive free throws by hitting his 38th in a row. After a win at St. Bonaventure, the Hawks dominated Temple at the Palestra, 92-76, in one of its best offensive performances of the year.

On the verge of achieving a bye for the Atlantic 10 Tournament, the Hawks had a lackluster effort and were upset by Richmond, 78-68. That started a three-game skid that included losses to Xavier and UMass to push the Hawks into sixth place in the conference, and a first-round game in the tournament.

SJU defeated Temple for the third time in the A-10 First Round as Carter hit the go-ahead free throws. The Hawks' season came to an end in the quarterfinals with the 58-48 loss to GW.

Nivins and Calathes put up career-best numbers with averages of 16.6 and 13.9 points per game, respectively. Nivins led the squad in rebounding with 7.1 per game, while setting the school record for field goal percentage in a season (.631). Calathes also grabbed a personal best 7.1 rebounds per game and topped the Hawks in assists, with 116.
